

- I. Elections Update
- II. Expectations Discussion: don't make elections more awkward than necessary.
- III. UUF Restructuring
 - a. The UUF Executive Committee has been considering potential changes in faculty governance of those aspects of undergraduate academic and student life experience that span, or fall outside, the purview of the individual constituent faculties. University Undergraduate Faculty has numerous standing committees specific to the undergraduate experience. The UUF discusses policies affecting undergraduates. Recently, there have been concerns from the UUF Executive Committee (UUFXC) that the UUF has not been as effective as is necessary. UUF seems to be suffering from a few problems:
 - i. Significant leadership turnover.
 - ii. Limited staff support.
 - iii. Confusion over the roles of the various UUF committees. Some of the committees have overlapping responsibilities and there is some confusion who has ultimate responsibility to implement policies.
 - iv. The Faculty are not as eager to serve on UUF committees as they are to serve on Faculty Senate committees.
 - v. The Office of Undergraduate Studies serves the students directly but has no power to decide on undergraduate academic policies. When UGS notices a need for policy change, it sends resolutions to UUF, which isn't very prompt in deciding on policy changes.
 - b. The UUFXC has come up a few proposed changes to the UUF structure, including the dissolution of the UUF in place of a new structure.
- IV. Next Week at GA?
 - a. Unified Curriculum: In response to the CSE's SAGES decision: USG would like to see that all undergraduates have the same options, regardless of the decision made.
 - b. Constitution Changes
 - c. Diversity

 - d. Information Technology: working on plasma screen issues. VP Witte will be emailing the appropriate people in the university this afternoon. The new survey system will be worked on when we have architects who are will to
 - e. Executive: GSS will be doing a student-wide referendum to implement an RTA pass similar to that of the undergraduate students. There will be a beta test of the CaseWARN system next week during which loud horns will sound and text messages will be sent. 50 students have been selected at random to run an initial round of testing. April 8th, 11:30 am in the Ford Auditorium will be the next Strategic Plan open forum. Pres. Snyder will be at the final GA meeting. Pres. Snyder is interested in learning more about diversity on campus. SEC met this week to discuss SEC By-laws and the student activity fee.
