

- I. CaseWARN System- The WARN System was launched last week. The system notifies members of the Case community by voicemail or text message when a critical event happens on campus. Because of USG's responsibility to the student body, we feel it is important to ensure high enrollment into the program.
- II. Committee Reports
 - a. Finance: This week's Finance Committee meeting will be dedicated to final funding requests for the semester.
 - b. Academic Affairs: Midterm Study Break went well. Adam and David met with Vice Provost Feke last week to discuss the revised teaching grid. Vice Provost Feke will be making a presentation to the General Assembly to clarify the rationale for the new teaching grid. A likely compromise will be to change the teaching grid for Graduate Students and keeping the Undergraduate Students teaching grid the same.
 - c. Public Relations: Halloween themed GA next week. The PR Committee wants a lot of themed GAs...The Committee started looking into the qualities they would like to see in a USG Webmaster. Stephanie wants some kind of open forum where she can inject happiness into people. USG fielded a team for Alpha Chi Omega's Kickball shindig. We still actually need people for the team...at least we gave a donation to such an important cause. We are still waiting to hear back from the company about Hoodies.
 - d. Information Technology: The committee will be talking about the USG website in general. They will be discussing the qualities for a webmaster as well.
 - e. Student Life: Myles has been in contact with Dan Farrell of Bon Appetit. USG will be meeting with Bon Appetit at the end of November/beginning of December. Miriam and Cemile have been work on a Veale improvement project. Over the next couple weeks, preliminary updates will be made to Veale and Veale's website. Michelle Cehn is actively pursuing her pro dog initiative.
 - f. Pres. Rupe: First Year representatives are doing really well. Their food drive is going well. Adam started to think about our responses to his evaluation this week. Adam will start taking a more hands off approach.
- III. SEC Update
 - a. Next meeting is on Friday. Prior to that, Adam and David will be meeting with Valbona to discuss USG plans to improve the quality of student life with the help of SEC.
